Parish Website

Regularly updated versions of these events diary pages are available on the Parish Website theparishpost.org. Many of the events also have links to other web pages which provide additional information. There's lots more news, information and photos on the Parish Website and you can leave your own comments. We are always happy to receive additional material to go on the site. Most media from fag-packet sketches to complex computer files are acceptable. Simple content is likely to be added quickly but we have a bit of a backlog of photos at the moment so they might take a while to appear. If you would like to help maintain the site you would be welcomed with open arms. Don't worry if you don't know how to do it, it's not rocket science and on-the-job training is available. All you need is a computer with internet access. Please email theparishpost@gmail.com or phone David on 660355 to find out more.
