Good Friday Walk

In glorious sunshine, a crowd of over 60 adults and children, climbed Clunbury Hill bearing crosses, for the traditional Good Friday walk. Several stops were made on the way up for prayers and readings led by Barney Bell and Philip Wright, and to change the cross bearers. Once at the top the crosses were erected and are now visible from all around.

After enjoying the wonderful views the party went back down the hill to a well-deserved tea in the village hall.

Book Launch – Clun valley & borders 33 favourite walks

Early in 2010 the three walking groups in Clun began a project to produce and publish a book of local walks. Members of the groups were asked to suggest favourite walks and I put forward ideas for two walks in the Clunbury area that were subsequently accepted.

I have often made use of walk books, but until my involvement with this project never appreciated just how much work goes into producing them. First, I had to walk my chosen routes, making careful notes along the way, describing exactly which direction to take across fields and through woods (not as easy as you might think – you know what you mean by ‘veer slightly left’ or ‘bear right’ but will the user of the book understand!) In the interests of those that (you hope) will follow, it’s necessary to stick exactly to the right of way and on one of my routes this involved crossing a field of shoulder-high oilseed rape in full flower. Unfortunately it had rained hard the night before and by the time I reached the other side my clothes were bright yellow and so wet that I had to take off my T-shirt and wring it out – luckily I was still in the middle of fields so only sheep were there to witness my outdoor striptease!

Once walked and written up, the routes were then re-walked by someone unfamiliar with them to make sure that the instructions could be understood and followed. The final stage, the actual production of the book involved the time and talents of many of the group in raising funding (thanks are due to Shropshire Hills AONB, People’s Postcode Lottery and Shropshire Council LJC), designing the book and getting it printed.

Now, just over a year since the project began the book is on sale. It can be found locally in Aston on Clun village shop, in Clun (Bridge Coffee Shop, Bright Flowers, Caractacus, Davies and The Old Surgery), in Bishop’s Castle (Old Time and Simpson’s), and in Craven Arms (Discovery Centre) at a cost of £4.95. Any profits will be distributed to local charities.

The Census of Clunbury 1901

I thought the census might be an appropriate topic for a short piece for this month as we have all just submitted our census returns - willingly or unwillingly!

Parish Council notes

The Parish Council met on 31 March in Clunbury Village Hall.

Present: Harry Collins (Chairman), John Croxton (Vice Chairman), Nancy Adams (Clerk), Karl Bailey, Ian Davies, Penny Marsh, Sandra Morgan, Malcolm Jones, one member of the public.

Apologies: Stuart Seabury, John Hoskins.

Bridleway at Ashbeds: Shropshire Council are to produce a report following a recent site visit. It is unlikely that the track behind Ashbeds will be added to the Definitive OS Map. The alternative of upgrading the footpath between the road and the forest track to a bridleway is problematic because of the steep gradient. The next episode in this long running saga should be revealed at the May PC meeting.

Clunton Brook: The Environment Agency says that clearing the Brook is the responsibility of adjoining landowners. John Croxton considered that clearing the Brook would have little effect on flooding as the water backs up into the Brook from the Clun when that river is high.

Clunbury Mains Drainage: The Housing Association has not yet given a date for starting work on connecting their properties to the new drain. The Clerk was asked to write to the Housing Association pressing for a start date.

Schools reorganisation: Governors from Clunbury and other schools are working together to find a way forward acceptable to both local communities and Shropshire Council.

Litter picking: The Clerk reported that the PC's insurance covered litter picking provided that certain health and safety procedures were followed.

Planning: The retrospective application for a fence at 'The Bungalow' had been refused and as a result the fence has been reduced in height.

Roads: A number of potholes need attention and will be brought to the attention of the Highways Dept. The warning signs for Beambridge bridge should be installed soon. The PC is waiting to hear from Shropshire Council about what actions they propose to improve visibility at Purslow cross roads.

Defibrillator Scheme: Councillor Bailey has been on the training course.

Eddie Jones in Newcastle on Clun is promoting buying groups for heating oil and LPG. Anyone interested should contact Eddie on 01588.640856

Rural Watch: Community Support Officer Julia St John-Martin will attend the next PC meeting.

Next meeting: Thursday 26 May, 8.00pm at Kempton Village Hall. This meeting will incorporate the Annual Parish Assembly. All parishioners are encouraged to attend, to meet their representatives and to ask questions.

There has always been great controversy surrounding the recording of the census. In 1753 a private bill, with government backing, was introduced which provided for an annual count of the population and a record of those receiving relief from the parish. It ran into fierce opposition and was condemned as an attack on "the last remains of English Liberty!" Some people regarded the whole thing with superstitious dread; others feared it would reveal too much to the nation's enemies. Though passed by the Commons, it was thrown out by the House of Lords.

During the next half a century, attitudes changed. They realised it was advisable to keep track of population increases relative to the resources available to support it. When the Census Bill of 1800 was introduced, it passed into law unopposed, and the first census was taken the following year and every 10 years thereafter.

I was going to give you some details from the 1911 census; (there is a 100 year closure on these records) but although you can pay to view entries from it on certain websites, it won't become freely available until January 2012, so I looked at the previous one, taken on the 31st March, 1901 for the parish of Clunbury.

In Clunbury Hall resided James Morris, 31, his brother Kenneth, 26 and 2 sisters, Martha, 29 and Fanny, 28, all unmarried and running the farm between them with a servant, Edith George. Along at Tansy Cottage was James Meredith, 54, a general labourer, his wife Ann and their 7 children and at the Mill House, Hubert Abbott, 66, a butler, born in Somerset, lived with his wife Sarah and children Sidney, 34, a groom, and daughter, Agnes, 30. They had a lodger, one Danby Brown, 49, a surgical medical practitioner from Ireland!

At Pool House were the Whitefoots - John, 34 and Mary Ann, 42 with their two daughters; Gladys, 8 (who went on to become Mrs Powell and who lived in this same house until she was nearly 100 years old), and Mildred, 6, who became Mrs Morgan (of the Llan).

Along at The Crown in Clunton, we find Charles Jones, 57, widower, timber feller and publican, whilst at The Oak was George Lunn, 30, a clog manufacturer and publican, with his wife, Georgina and a domestic servant - Gertrude Wadsworth, 17 from Yorkshire.

At Purslow Hall was George Archdale, 39 with wife Lucy and 3 young children, attended by 7 servants including a French governess, a cook from Scotland and a domestic nurse, a parlourmaid, a housemaid, a kitchenmaid and a nursemaid!

Up at the Pump House [can anyone identify this?] in Kempton lived Edward Jones, 37, a house joiner and carpenter, his wife Hannah and two sons.

The title of oldest inhabitant in the parish is shared by three people, all recorded as 80 years of age - Jane Anthony, a widow at the Post Office, Clunbury; John Williams, a rabbit catcher, of Clunbury, and Edward Price, a general labourer of Lawn Cottage, Beambridge.

The youngest inhabitant was the as yet unnamed daughter, and 6th child of James Morris, 34 and his wife Hannah 31 of The Green, Clunton, at just 21 hours old! Ahh! James was also a rabbit catcher.

In 1901, the Clunbury parish recorded 853 inhabitants. I went through it and noted all the occupations given, (sad, I know, but I'm a keen family historian!), and it was no surprise to see that domestic service was the most common job (61), followed closely by farmers (37), agricultural labourers (35), waggoners and general labourers, both (25), cattlemen (17), woodsmen (13), shepherds and grooms (10 each), seamstress, carpenter and stone mason (9 each), blacksmith (7), rabbit catcher (6), wheelwright and engine drivers (5 each), teachers, post women, gamekeepers, laundress and publican (3 of each) plus a few others. Those that were "living on own means" numbered 11 and there 3 people receiving parish relief.

It certainly paints a picture of life at that time, doesn't it? It would be fascinating to compare it with the occupations given in 2011, but that will have to wait for our descendants and interested parties in, probably, 100 years from now, unless there's a change in the law that releases them sooner!

Annual Parish Assembly

This will be held along with the next Parish Council meeting on Thursday 26 May in Kempton Village Hall starting at 8.00pm. All parishioners are encouraged to attend, to meet their representatives and to ask questions.

Clunton Coffee Morning

The coffee morning on 9 April in Clunton Village Hall was an enjoyable social occasion, and raised over £270 for the upkeep of the Hall.

There were stalls selling cakes, preserves, books, toys and plants as well as plenty of good bric-a-brac. There was a raffle and an excellent Tombola – with some local rivalry over winning the bottle of whisky. It eventually went to a good home at Fold Farm !!

The event was well attended and the weather was good enough for some folk to sit outside with their coffee, enjoy the view and a chat.

Spring Launch

Wildlife enthusiasts met on the first day of spring, over tea and cake, to celebrate the formal launch of the Kemp Valley Wildlife Group. As the breeding season starts again, monitoring bird activity becomes paramount in view of the rapid decline of some species.

Last year's Lapwing survey showed an increase in fledged young, but only from 1 to 3! Suitable nesting sites are few and far between; advice on how to maintain and improve them can be obtained from Leo Smith, 01588 638577.

Vince Downs talked of the successful work undertaken to provide secure nesting sites for Dippers, which are doing well at present, with nests under a number of local bridges.

Dipper (Cinclus cinclus)

It is feared that Barn Owls will have suffered over the last 2 winters (snow cover makes hunting particularly difficult), but work continues on providing nest boxes in appropriate locations. If you see a Barn Owl (other than in the well known Little Brampton area) or know of a suitable location for a nest box, please tell Vince on 01588 660369.

Expansion of the Red Kite population in Shropshire continues apace and in 2010, 2 nests were found in the Kemp Valley project area with 4 young fledging. If you see 2 kites together, or one in the same place several times, or visiting a wood, please contact Leo.

Kempton Rooks occupy West End

How many rookeries are there in our parish? And how long have they existed? Although I have paid them little attention over the years I think that Rooks have nested at Kempton throughout the 25 years I have lived here. Am I right? And how far back can we take the story?

In 2008 I counted 60 nests at Kempton, mostly in the big oaks along 'the top road' (B4385). But since then they have started moving west, deserting the oaks and occupying, for the most part, quite young ash trees. And this year some birds have moved from the East End of the village across the Kemp to the West End, with the nests split fairly evenly (19:13) between the two parts of the village. Additionally a cluster of some five nests was built further west still, near New House Farm, although the nests here now seem to have been abandoned.

Elsewhere in the parish there is a long-standing colony in poplars between the Hundred House and Purslow Hall. I counted 55 nests there a day or two ago when I also came across a tiny group of 2 or 3 nests in an ivy-clad oak south of Clunbury Village, up-against Clunbury Hill, outliers presumably from the rookery in the village. But surely there must be colonies elsewhere. What about at Clunton or Beambridge? And how many nested in Clunbury itself this year? You may like to share your knowledge of this and any other sites with the Parish Post.
